PATIENT MEDICAL SUMMARY

Name: Alessandro Moretti

DOB: May 14, 1968

Status: High Priority Management

Known Allergies:

CRITICAL ALLERGY: SULFITES (Sodium Metabisulfite)

Patient exhibits severe anaphylactic shock upon ingestion of concentrations exceeding 5ppm. Must strictly avoid all processed wines and stabilized food products. Patient maintains a strict organic, no-sulfite-added regimen at the vineyard.

Physician's Note: Alessandro is meticulously careful. He carries an EpiPen at all times, though he prides himself on never needing it thanks to his own vineyard's strict standards.

Siena Forensic Toxicology Lab

Confidential Analysis Report #SF-992-B

Sample: Swab from crystal wine glass (Item #4, Cellar Floor)

Analysis: Spectroscopic Scan

Detection: HIGH CONCENTRATION OF NON-ORGANIC SULFITES (Sodium Metabisulfite).

Level: 1250 ppm (Lethal dose for sensitive subjects).

Note: These are industrial-grade sulfites, not naturally occurring or typically found in premium wine production. The concentration suggests a deliberate additive.

OFFICIAL FORENSIC RECORD

The honor of your presence is requested at the marriage of

Isabella Rossi & Alessandro Moretti

at the Il Cuore della Vite Estate

Saturday, September 14th, at 7 o'clock in the evening

A celebration of two hearts becoming one under the Tuscan moon.

RSVP by August 1st to the Estate Office

Alessandro,

You think you can just replace me? I built this label. I sweat blood for these vines while you were off playing the visionary. If that gold-digging girl takes my seat, I'll burn the cellar down before she sees a drop of profit.

Don't test me, Alessandro. I know where the bodies are buried—and exactly how much you're worth.

Expect me tonight.

- Elena

September 10th

I saw Isabella by the North Gate again today. She thought she was alone. She was talking to a man in a dark, expensive suit. He handed her a folder—it looked like a contract. She looked... different. The warmth she shows Alessandro was gone. She looked hard. Cold. Calculating.

I should tell him, but my heart is tied in knots. If I'm wrong, I lose his respect. If I'm right, I lose her forever. I can't breathe.

Section 12.4 (Inheritance): In the event of the groom's demise prior to the solemnization of the marriage, the estate known as 'Il Cuore della Vite' shall pass to the bride-elect, Isabella Rossi, in fee simple.

Wait, why was this updated yesterday? I don't remember signing this amendment. I need to talk to Giovanni. - Alessandro

Envelope 1: The Scene of the Toast — Photo of the Shattered Glass (Photo)

Item Name: Shattered Crystal Glass (Fragmented)
Recovery Location: Private Wine Cellar, Il Cuore della Vite Estate
Timestamp: Sept 14, 2026 - 23:45 | Officer: Detective Rossi

FORENSIC CASE FILE

Fig 1.1: Primary Evidence Item as found on cellar stone floor.

Investigative Findings

The crystal glass was found 1.2 meters from the victim's left hand. Spray pattern suggests significant impact force, consistent with a sudden loss of motor control.

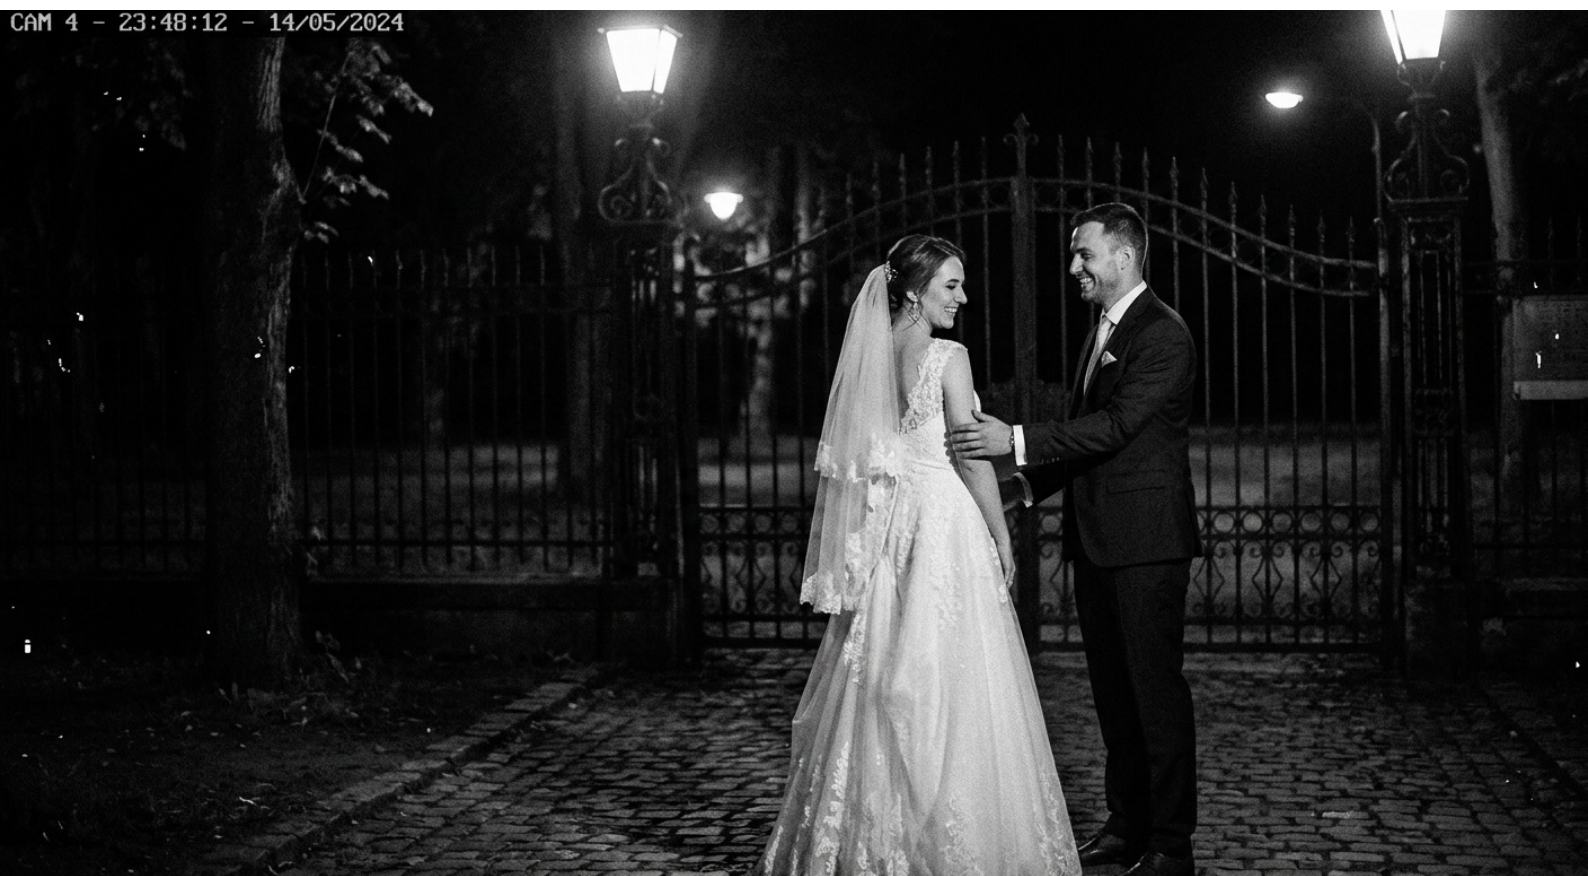

Technical Notes

- Material: Hand-blown lead crystal, Moretti heirloom series.
- Residue: Faint traces of red wine. Distinct, sharp chemical odor noted.
- Forensics: Alessandro Moretti's partial prints found on base. Smudged secondary prints detected.

Conclusion: Substance in glass likely the cause of death. Proximity to "Last Vintage" barrel is highly significant.

Item Name: North Gate Surveillance Still
Camera: N-Gate-C3 (Low Light / Infrared)
Timestamp: Sept 14, 2026 - 22:12 | Analysis: IT Unit - Moretti Estate

SECURITY RECORD: CONFIDENTIAL

Investigative Findings

Grainy capture shows Subject A (Female, identifying as Isabella Rossi) meeting with Subject B (Male, unidentified) at the North Gate. Subject B arrived in a dark sedan, plates obscured by shadow.

Technical Notes

Enhancement of the exchange indicates a flat, rectangular object (likely a folder or contract) being handed from Subject B to Subject A. The interaction lasted less than 4 minutes. Subject A appears guarded, checking the perimeter repeatedly.

Conclusion: Confirms secret communication between the bride and an external party just hours before the victim's death. Directly correlates with the 'Global Grapes' corporate espionage theory.

Item Name: Recovered Leather Wallet
Location: North Gate Perimeter, Exterior Grating
Timestamp: Sept 15, 2026 - 06:20 | Officer: Sgt. Bianchi

EVIDENCE: RED HERRING

Investigative Findings

Wallet found caught in the drainage grate near the North Gate. Contents include 45 Euros, a dry-cleaning receipt from Siena (dated 3 days ago), and a business card for 'Global Grapes' with the name 'Julian' scribbled on the back.

Technical Notes

No identification cards or credit cards present. The wallet shows signs of heavy wear. DNA swabs indicate multiple handlers. Business card has a smudge of what appears to be organic fertilizer.

Conclusion: While found near a point of entry, the owner remains unidentified. Possibly dropped by a courier or visitor earlier in the week. Value as direct murder evidence is currently low.

Sommelier's Note: The 2024 Reserve

Tasting Notes: Deep ruby color. Notes of black cherry, leather, and a hint of dark chocolate. The acidity is balanced, though the finish is unusually sharp. I suspect the aging process in the new oak barrels has introduced a metallic undertone.

Rating: 94 Points. Needs at least 10 more years of aging.
